FilmMalibuSharkAttackOnlineSubtitratInRomana [UPDATED]

A: You don't have to do anything here. Your original post is fine, as is the MCVE you have provided. You have been given the correct answer. Q: How to find out is the UIImageView is set as onClickListener or onTouchListener The problem is, I want to implement both the clickable and draggable functionality in my image. I am able to click on the images but when i touch it, it isn't dragged. I'm setting it as onClickListener. Can someone let me know what's going wrong? Question is actually, how can I find out is the UIImageView has onTouchListener set or is onClickListener? A: You can compare the view's ID with a set of IDs returned by the getId attribute in the same view class. Say, for example:

public class ImageView extends ImageView { private static final int CLICK_ID = 1; private static final int TOUCH_ID = 2; //... @Override public void onClick(View v) { if (v.getId() == CLICK_ID) onClick(); } @Override public boolean onTouch(View v, MotionEvent event) { if (v.getId() == TOUCH_ID) onTouch(); return false; } }

 This works because if the id is changed from 1 to 2, the Touch ID will now be false for any Touch Event. If you actually want to know, what id is it, you can get it through the getId() function. Q: How to export ipa to Ad Hoc in iPhone? I'm trying to upload to iTunes app store without distribution certificate. Now I want to export the ipa file to Ad Hoc. But I can't find the export interface in Xcode. what can I do? A: Change your Apple ID to a different one, log out of the previous one on the Settings > iCloud screen, and log back in
