I have tried to download a movie through internet, but the process failed. On the same date when I again tried, the process failed again. How can I solve this problem? Cell phones and internet access are becoming daily tools in the Hands of the nation's lawmakers, as they launched their official mobile phones and even PCs to spread the message for ruling PAT-led PPP government. Mobile Internet is available at 9am with the provision that 30pc of data would be charged with Rs 5 per hour, a member of the Council of Ministers told Dawn. He pointed out that the mobile service would be available to users of the country's leading mobile companies i.e Vodafone and Airtel, and those who have subscribed to the service would be issued with SIM cards or will have to purchase them. Prime Minister Yousuf Raza Gilani appeared on a mobile phone, while Leader of the Opposition Sherry Rehman, National Assembly Speaker Ayaz Sadiq, Federal Minister for Railways Khawaja Pervez Ashraf and others had earlier made similar announcements. They were briefed on the situation following riots and attacks in various cities in the country. Security Council Member Faisal Javed said the service would also be open to the country's top leaders in the government and security bodies. Another security Council member, Farhatullah Babar, said it was important to review the service and ensure that it was open to the people. He said the government needed to put an end to the law and order situation in the country. While talking to the media, a government official expressed the hope that the service would contribute to the dialogue between political parties. He said that the service would provide a platform for leaders of political parties and NGOs to exchange views. The official said that the service would also be used by members of the media to get information on security issues.
